Description The Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy (EERE) Science, Technology and Policy (STP) Program serves as a next step in the educational and professional development of scientists and engineers by providing opportunities to participate in policy-related projects at DOE's Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy in Washington, D.C. Participants will become part of a group of highly-trained scientists and engineers with the education, background, and experience to be part of the workforce that supports the DOE's mission in the future. You will acquire experience and enrichment in the following areas:

- Gain deep insight into the federal government's role in the creation and implementation of policies that affect energy technology development
- Contribute to the implementation of energy policies by applying scientific and technical expertise to the development of solutions for problems in areas of energy efficiency and renewable energy
- Continue your education and involvement in areas that support the EERE mission either in a technical or policy-related role
- Introduce policy-related knowledge and interest into research facilities supporting the EERE mission

The U.S. Department of Energy, Building Technologies Office (BTO) is looking for a fellow to engage in technology, budget, and policy-related research projects. Your learning opportunities include:

- Research and identify problematic areas and conduct research to determine the best course of action to correct the data
- Analyze and problem-solve issues with current and planned systems as they relate to the integration and management of data
- Analyze reports of data duplicates or other errors to provide ongoing appropriate inter-departmental communication and monthly or daily data reports
- Participate in review, analysis, and interpretation of legislation, including authorization and appropriation language and develop models, analyses and reports using acquired data
- Engage in monitoring for timely and accurate completion of select data elements
- Identify, analyze, and interpret trends or patterns in complex data sets
- In collaboration with BTO teams, develop and maintain databases and data systems necessary for projects and department functions
- Acquire and abstract primary or secondary data from existing internal or external data sources
- Under the guidance of a mentor, develop cost-benefit analyses of proposed budgetary and program actions

- Collaborate on preparation of detailed Annual Operating Plan (AOP) for BTO's activities at DOE National Labs and with contractors
- Collaborate on budget execution activities for approved budget with assigned programs to assure that funds are properly allocated, authorized, and obligated in a timely and effective manner in support of authorized management objectives
- Engage in document editing and formatting, document and presentation preparation, database administration, and other administrative duties

These activities may be carried out in collaboration with teams of multi-level federal employees, other participants, support service contractors, and experts from national laboratories.

Participant Benefits

Selected participants will receive a stipend as support for their living and other expenses during this appointment. Stipend rates are determined by EERE officials and are based on the candidate's academic and professional background. Relocation expenses, not to exceed $5,000, incurred in relocating from the participant's current address to Washington, D.C. (if more than 50 miles from the address shown on the application), may be reimbursed. Participants will receive a travel allowance of $10,000 per appointment year to cover travel-related expenses to scientific and professional development activities.
