

Opportunity Title: Heliophysics Science: Radiation Belt and Ring Current Modeling

Opportunity Reference Code: 0065-NPP-NOV23-GSFC-HelioSci

Organization: National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA)

Reference Code: 0065-NPP-NOV23-GSFC-HelioSci

Application Deadline: 11/1/2023 6:00:59 PM Eastern Time Zone

Description: Radiation belt and ring current plasmas are hazardous to systems and to humans in space. It is important to understand the processes controlling their buildup and decay in order to predict and forecast the development of these high-energy plasmas. We conduct theoretical research and computer simulation. Modeling tools include global magnetohydrodynamic models, kinetic models, and single particle trajectory tracing. To validate these theories and models, extensive comparison with observations of energetic particles is also conducted, including remote sensing of energetic neutral atoms. Opportunities exist to develop new theories, improve existing models, and analyze available data.
