- A current resume/CV, including academic history, employment history, relevant experiences, and publication list
- One educational or professional recommendation. Your application will be considered incomplete, and will not be reviewed until one recommendation is submitted.

All documents must be in English or include an official English translation.

Description *Applications will be reviewed on a rolling-basis.

CDC Office and Location: A research opportunity is available in the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) located in Atlanta, Georgia.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is one of the major operation components of the Department of Health and Human Services. CDC works to protect America from health, safety and security threats, both foreign and in the U.S. Whether diseases start at home or abroad, are chronic or acute, curable or preventable, human error or deliberate attack, CDC fights disease and supports communities and citizens to do the same.

Research Project: The candidate will join the Surveillance Branch within Division of Healthcare Quality Promotion, and participate in data management and data analysis activities for the nation's most widely used healthcare-associated infection surveillance system—CDC's National Healthcare Safety Network (NHSN). We are seeking motivated applicants with a background in Public Health, Allied Sciences, Epidemiology, Biostatistics or Statistics, Data Management, or Data Science. The candidate will collaborate with a growing team of medical officers, epidemiologists, data analysts, and project managers. The candidate can expect to gain valuable experiences in the development, implementation, and evaluation of research activities such as study/research management, database cleaning, data analyses (using SAS or R), interpretation of the results, writing manuscripts, health education, and developing poster and oral presentations.

Learning Objectives: Training for fellows may include the following:

- Participation in research projects
- Data management and data cleaning
- Analysis of large-scale healthcare-associated infection data, COVID-19
