Description A fellowship opportunity is available with the Applied Research and Evaluation Branch (AREB), in the Division for Heart Disease and Stroke Prevention (DHDSP), within the National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion (NCCDPHP) at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) in Atlanta, Georgia.

DHDSP has a mission to provide public health leadership to improve cardiovascular health for all, reduce the burden and eliminate disparities associated with heart disease and stroke. Priorities for the Division include reducing the consumption of sodium, improving the prevention and management of risk factors, as well as cardiovascular health systems of care. The Applied Research and Evaluation Branch (AREB) has broad responsibility for the Division's evaluation, economics, applied research, and translation activities. AREB has an active portfolio that currently supports more than 40 projects.

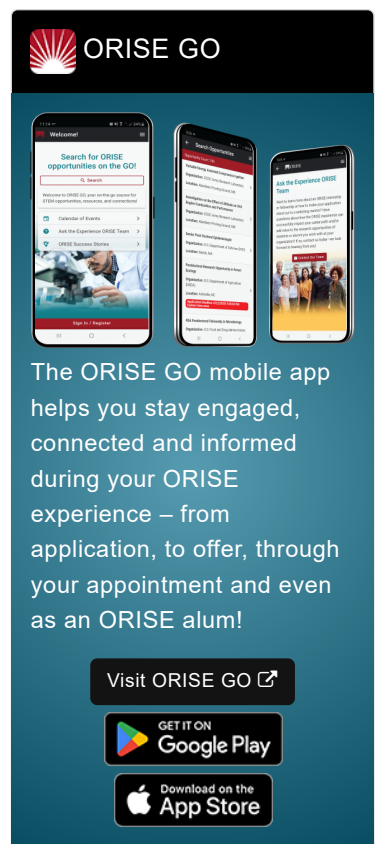

The AREB endeavors to:

- Conduct evaluations to expand practice based evidence of public health programs
- Provide scientific support and key translation products for the Division's funded programs
- Increase the engagement of community health workers and other nontraditional providers in community and clinical practices
- Provide technical assistance to grantees of DHDSP- funded programs
- Conduct systematic reviews on key topics
- Facilitate the integration of public health and health care in the area of cardiovascular health

The selected candidate will support a team that is conducting evaluations of DHDSP funded programs and initiatives, provide evaluation support to grantees and partners, conduct evaluation studies, and develop evaluation resources and tools.

Under the guidance of a mentor, the participant will gain experience by:

- Supporting the evaluation work of the Division
- Providing evaluation technical assistance to grantees
- Aiding in the rigorous evaluation of field-based projects
- Co-analyzing Division initiatives such as Million Hearts®, the Sodium Reduction in Communities Program, the Paul Coverdell National Acute Stroke Program, WISEWOMAN,
